

The Hand and Heart

Pub and Restaurant

The Hand & Heart is a traditional English pub in Nottingham, with a sandstone cave at the back and Victorian front still largely in their original condition.

Hosta Consulting designed window box planters to soften the facade of the building. The ivy planters were installed with a bespoke irrigation system to ensure the plants were low maintenance and provided year round greenery. The ivy now creates street level interest to attract customers and achieve a pleasant environment inside and out.
